Divorce Cases Make Up Calendar

CIRCUIT COURT OPENED AND CLOSED TUESDAY AFTER-NOON

Decrees were granted in six chancery cases, four of which were divorce suits, by Judge Guy E. Smith in Circuit court Tuesday. One chancery case, that of the assignment of creditors of Marius Hanson, was continued and the case of the State of Ohio et al vs. Feargus B. Squire, mortgage foreclosure, was continued to the October term. The divorce decrees granted were the following: William J. Floeter vs. Marie Gladys Floeter; Richard Thompson vs. Bernice H. Thompson; Helen Tiffin vs. Charles Tiffin; Lillian B. Andrus vs. Buff G. Andrus. In the case of Laura Welch vs. Leonard Welch, an order amending decree was granted.

There was one criminal case, that of the People vs. Barry Lauder, charged with assault with intent to commit the crime of murder. This case grew out of the trouble Rufus Edmonds and Lauder had last Wednesday afternoon at Maple Forest when the latter threw a stone, striking Mr. Edmonds on the head and injuring him very severely. However Lauder whose home is in Gaylord, was placed under bonds of $5,000 and the case continued to the October term to await the outcome of the injury. Mr. Edmonds was rendered unconscious by the blow and is a patient at Mercy Hospital.

The three assumpsit cases of the Bay Trust Company vs. E. L. Sparkes; vs. E. L. Sparkes and Melvin A. Bates and vs. Blanche Houghton, E. L. Houghton and Melvin A. Bates were continued to the October term.

INJURED BY STONE THROWN BY ANGERED MAN

Rufus Edmonds Sr., a prominent resident of Maple Forest and a member of the Crawford County Road Commission, was brought to Mercy Hospital Wednesday evening, July 3rd, suffering with a very serious injury to his head.

The injury was inflicted by Barry Lauder at the Bailey farm at Maple Forest. Mr. Lauder, whose home is at Gaylord, is reported to have been under the influence of liquor and in a fit of anger, probably caused by a drunken desire to cause trouble, threw a rock at Mr. Edmonds, hitting him on the side of the head. Although at the time, the injury was not believed to be serious he became so ill, shortly afterward, that it was necessary to bring him to the hospital.

Sheriff Frank Bennett was summoned and located Lauder at a farm at Maple Forest, placing him under arrest on a charge of assault with the intention of committing murder.

Wednesday Evening: Homecoming Ball at School Gymnasium

As a Special Feature, at a big expense, the Homecoming Committee has engaged Paul Zimm and his famous Keith's Headline Dance Orchestra which appears at the Homecoming. They will no doubt play to capacity crowds, according to reports throughout the territory, as they are offering a Dance Program that is very unusual in ball rooms.

Heading the Floor Show is Miss Loreen NeVelle, doing the Sleeve Dance, which was featured at the Streets of Paris last summer at the Chicago World's Fair. Miss NeVelle is the originator of the Sleeve Dance, and conceived the idea from Sally Rand and Faith Bacon's famous Fan Dance. Instead of fans, Miss NeVelle uses two sleeves which she manipulates in the same manner that Sally Rand or Faith Bacon uses the fans. The Sleeve Dance is danced to the strains of the Champagne Waltz, aided by a special lighting effect.

Other entertainers in the Floor Show also specialize in dances that have been a sensation at Night Clubs and Theatres.

THURSDAY, JULY 18

The Big Parade at 2:00 P. M.

A Parade of the North, participated in by merchants.

Legion Jottings

All members of the Drum & Bugle Corps went to Charlevoix July 4th, enroute stopping off at Mancelona where they led the parade at 10 o'clock in that city. After the parade the committee on the 4th of July celebration at that place announced we would be served with a dinner at 11:45 so we could leave for Charlevoix and be ready for their big parade. On arriving at that fine city we were greeted by the American Legion Post and Veterans and told that we were to lead the parade there. After the parade we were served with a very nice banquet and the boys celebrated the Fourth until ready to come home. We wish to thank both Posts of our neighboring cities for their courtesy to us on the "Glorious Fourth."

On Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings the Goebel Brewing Co., famous 10 piece band will entertain on the streets of Grayling and will be playing at the Legion Bowery on these dates. This band played a full winter engagement in the largest hotel in Denver, Col., and is a nationally known band. This band comes to the people as an additional feature by the homecoming committee.

The American Legion requests that all the children in our community be at the Ball Park Tuesday at 2 P. M. sharp to either take part or watch the field day sports for youngsters that will be staged there. This day is also "Kiddies' day at the Carnival grounds and all rides and shows, including animal circus, will be given to the youngsters at the small fee of 5c per ride or show. What an inducement for the youngsters. Don't forget this is only Tuesday afternoon from 1:30 sharp to 6:30. This special rate is through the courtesy of our local Legion Post and Mr. Pollie, owner of the Pollie & Berger Exposition shows.

The Post held their business meeting Monday evening and Comrades Clarence Johnson and Wilfred Laurant were selected as delegates and comrades Orel Levan and Adolph Peterson were selected as alternates to the 10th District meeting to be held at Mio on July 22nd.

Direct from Chicago for our Homecoming Ball to be held on July 17th, at the School gym, the Homecoming committee presents the famous Paul Zimm and his all-girl floor show direct from the World's Fair. This band is a Keith Theatre attraction and comes to us at a heavy expense. We have tried to furnish the best in all our entertainments and no one can afford to go to sleep and stay away from any of our high grade entertainments.

The Legion Homecoming Committee is trying to put on this celebration in the way that Grayling has always tried to put on a celebration, so don't forget when you visit the Carnival Midway that the Bowery Dance and our Beer Cafe are operated by our Legion and all profits that are made through our efforts above expenses are to be used for Corps uniforms and equipment. Why not help the boys who have worked so hard to put over this big event.

Don't forget also that Tim Doolittle's Pine Center Gang will be at Horseshoe Lake on Sunday, July 21, the last night of the Homecoming and not only will there be dancing but a floor show will be put on by this famous dance band. They are now broadcasting over WJR every morning at 10:45 and they are telling about our homecoming party to be held at Horseshoe Lake near Waters. This troupe is well worth going miles to hear and see and dance by. They have the cleverest caller for square dances in the country.

There will be a special meeting of all members of the American Legion at their hall Thursday evening. Business of much importance to be taken up at this meeting.

More than 18,000,000 acres of land, or approximately half the total area of the state, is under protection against forest fires.

Editors Visit Historic Mackinac Island

ENJOY 3 DAYS AT MICHIGAN'S FINEST RESORT

Mackinac Island, steeped in 300 years of history, nestled snugly in the Straits of Mackinaw, was the scene of Michigan Press association's annual summer outing July 4th, 5th and 6th.

The Editors and their families discovered Mackinac Island for themselves as did the voyagers, fur traders and missionaries of old. They visited this historic spot of military exploits of the soldiers of France, England and American Colonies for the possession of this outpost of the great Northwest Empire of more than a century ago.

The visitors enjoyed their vacation in the atmosphere of the historic past on this restful Fairy Isle—free from the noise and bustle of editorial duties, for here there are no automobiles, no street cars nor trains.

The memory of a drive through the beautiful natural park will live long in the mind of every visitor to Mackinac Island. No more delightful drive can be found anywhere on the American Continent. Comfortable carriages, drawn by well-kept horses are at the disposal of the tourist. The drivers are all local men, intelligent and thoroughly conversant with the island's history and Indian legends from the time of the pious Jesuit down to the present day.

The regular drive, which embraces the principal points of interest, covers a distance of about nine miles through dense forests of maple, beech, birch, pine and balsam, with here and there a precipitous cliff from which one gets a glimpse of sea and sky. The points of interest visited are as follows in the order named: Robinson's Folly, a precipitous bluff about a half-mile east of the town, which rises to a height of 127 feet above the waters of Lake Huron. The road now, for nearly a mile, leads along the edge of the plateau from which one catches blue visions of the lake through dark green pine vistas, and Arch Rock is unfolded to the astonished gaze.

This is a natural limestone arch rising from the water's edge, whose summit is 149 feet high, and is the most famous of the natural curiosities. Sugar Loaf, a rock cone rising 90 feet high amid the wild forest growth, in about the center of the Island. The 1,000-yard Rifle Range where United States soldiers practiced marksmanship during their occupancy of Fort Mackinac. Fort Mackinac, situated directly back of the town on an elevation 133 feet high. This fort was removed from Mackinac City in 1780 after the close of Pontiac's Conspiracy, and the stone blockhouses erected at that time are still in their natural state.

The Fort commands the harbor and entire Straits and is one of the most dominating features of the landscape. Skull Cave, where the fur-trader, Alexander Henry, was hidden away by some friendly Indians at the time of the massacre of 1763. The Cemeteries, Catholic and Protestant, separated only by the carriage road, where the departed residents are laid to rest practically side by side. Point Lookout, which affords a splendid view of the east and north portions of the Island and surrounding territory with Sugar Loaf for its central figure. The view from Point Lookout, with its grandeur of sea, rock and forest, will drive out of mind all thoughts of smaller or more sordid things, and the scene will cling hauntingly to the memory of every person who visits the place. Fort Holmes, erected by the British during the war of 1812, is situated on the highest point of the Island, at the rear of Fort Mackinac, and is 339 feet above the level of the lake. Lover's Leap, a pinnacle of rock 145 feet high, on the southern shore of the Island, from whose heights an Indian maiden leaped to her death on learning that her lover had been killed in battle with one of the hostile tribes. A little farther on is Pontiac's Lookout, so named in recognition of Pontiac's place in the history of this region. The time consumed in making this drive is from one to two hours, according to the time spent at the several points of interest.

Other points of interest which may be visited either by carriage or on foot are British Landing, where the British forces landed in 1812 when they captured Fort Mackinac from a small force of

THE UNKNOWN

By ANNE CAMPBELL

I DO not know which way the road may lead Tomorrow.

My soul may tremble like a broken reed

To sorrow;

But through unknown the dark untraveled way,

I have Today!

This day is steeped in joy! Each shining minute

Has gladness in it.

No black forebodings steal the skies' clear blue;

The sun shines through.

And golden lies the path that winds this hour

To love in flower.

I have Today! I face it gratefully, Intending,

No matter where the road that's meant for me

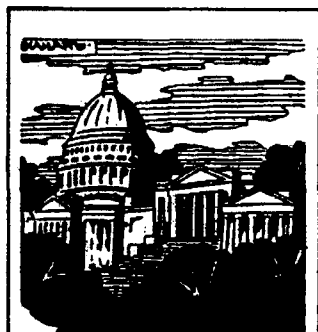

Is leading

To walk it as the saints their hard way trod,

With faith in God!

NATURAL FORCES AID BUSINESS RECOVERY

By R. S. HECHT
President American Bankers Association

ALTHOUGH, as official studies of business conditions show, business is still far from having struck its full stride, nevertheless, I believe that it is undoubtedly true that the natural economic processes which have always brought the nation out of a slump are now and have been for some time steadily at work laying the foundations for more active business conditions.

I believe that there is growing a broader public perception that the people of this country must make their own prosperity and not wait for the Government at Washington to make it for them. In other words, the normal economic vigor and vitality of the United States is slowly but inevitably bringing recovery.

Like a doctor, the administration can help nature. But the fundamental healing processes will come from natural causes and not from political remedies. Despite the slackening of business now apparent, despite expressions of disappointment we hear from various quarters, nevertheless I am confident that these fundamental healing processes, if not spectacular, are none the less surely at work.

Gradually our business leaders are showing greater confidence in the future and are assuming a more forward looking position. I firmly believe that if we will make up our minds to replace fear-psychology with confidence-psychology, the results will fully justify such a new attitude.

BANKERS' ASSOCIATION STIMULATES ADVERTISING

The American Bankers Association's Advertising Department reports rapid progress of the use by banks of the informative bank newspaper advertising prepared by it for members to assist them in rebuilding public confidence and good will in their communities.

The central theme of this advertising service deals with the "essential line of economic and social service that all sound banking inherently renders the depositor and the public," the report says, showing that "it is not banking laws which make banking useful and safe, but that it is honesty and skill in management under private initiative."

The Advertising Department is supplying about a thousand members of the association with newspaper and other advertising material. The newspaper material totals about 50,000 advertisements annually. The growth of the work of the department is shown by the following figures: On September 1, 1934, the number of banks being served regularly each month was 623. The total number on April 1, 1935, was 924, an increase of 301 regular subscribers, or 49 per cent.

WAR ON BANK BANDITS

National Bankers Association Pressing Active Measures to Protect Members—Losses Cut

Imprisonment or death of many desperate bank criminals the past year has brought no appreciable reduction in attacks on banks, James E. Baum, in charge of the American Bankers Association Protective Department, has reported to his organization.

In the six months ended February 28, 1935, he says, banks were targets for 169 daylight holdups and 40 night burglaries. He added that although banks that are not members number only about half those enrolled in the association, they suffered a far greater rate of attack, namely, 61 per cent of all the bank robberies.

Losses Show Decrease

During the period under report, bank burglars and bandits exacted tribute amounting to $943,551 compared with losses totaling $1,257,000 a year ago, he said. This reduction in losses is attributed to the time-locking restrictions and other limitations in the exposure of surplus cash imposed last year by underwriters and bank supervisory authorities.

The sharp reduction in the material loss of money and securities resulting from bank robbery this year was "overshadowed by the killing of 3 bank employees, one bystander and 5 arresting officers," and since last August bank robbery also cost the lives of 15 criminals and caused physical injuries to 10 bank employees, 12 bystanders, 9 arresting officers and 8 bandits, a total of 62 casualties.

Investigations by the association's agents resulted in the arrest of 56 forgers, 49 bandits and one burglar, or 79 of the 141 bank criminals reported as being apprehended during the period.

WRONG PAINTS CAUSE USERS MUCH TROUBLE

Home Owners Should Select Right Kind Before Starting To Paint

Researches in the Forest Products Laboratories reveal secrets other than the source of the wood used in the Lindbergh kidnapping, according to Dr. F. L. Browne, Madison, Wis., who has been studying the reasons for the failure of paint jobs on houses.

Most failures, Dr. Browne says, occur when the owner tries to apply white paint over an old coat of colored paint. White paint over white paint also fails when the second paint differs in pigment content from the paint used first.

Use of the wrong kinds of paint in repainting buildings results in the scaling off of the pigment used on the new job and an unsightly building within a short time after the work is completed. White or tinted paints used over brown, green, or deep red paints fail very rapidly and leave bad surfaces for repainting.

If a building is already protected with colored paint and the owner wants to repaint it white, it is better to remove all the old paint by burning than to invite trouble by trying to cover it with the white. Groups of buildings erected by corporations which kept exact records furnish accurate information on the durability of different types of paint.

Changes of pigments used by paint manufacturers have been more frequent in recent years, and paints made from another pigment do not last well over old paint. In selecting paints, it is wise to select a good brand and then use the same brand again in repainting buildings.

The paints which most frequently disagree with each other are white paint over any full color, paints of the same color but made from different pigments, and paints containing varnish covered by paints which lack varnish.

Growth of Fishes

The growth of fishes probably decelerates with age, but under favorable circumstances it never stops. If fish growth were shown on a graph, the weight curve would show a steady upward line, but the length curve would ascend rapidly at first, then almost straighten out. That is because as the fish grows large, the corresponding increase in girth tends to make the weight increase rather constant. — Detroit Free Press.

Pollie-Berger Co.
Have Clean Shows

Henry J. Pollie and Louis Berger, who say their object in life is to bring mental sunshine, entertainment and amusement to the communities in which their big exposition and wild animal circus exhibits, promise to furnish Grayling next week with the best collection of shows, rides and educational exhibits that can be gathered together.

The big motorcade, consisting of trucks, trailers and private cars, will reach Grayling Sunday night, and early Monday morning the work of unloading will be commenced. By Monday night the wild animal circus, the side shows and rides will be in operation.

The old theory that the show takes all the money out of town has long since been exploded. A show of the size of Pollie and Berger carrying nearly 400 people, leaves much money in town. Show people are known as "spendthrifts" and seldom accumulate much for the proverbial rainy day. They have to eat, they patronize theatres, they buy clothes, the majority of them live in hotels—in fact they keep circulating money in every town in which the show appears.

The show has its own cook house, but all supplies are purchased locally, and it takes a lot of food to feed the 200 employees. Entertainment features have been gathered from all parts of the world, and patrons will receive full amusement value for every dime spent on the Pollie and Berger midway. Something to suit the tastes of all lovers will be found, objectional features that have been associated with carnivals in the past being omitted.

Tuesday will be children's day when youngsters will be admitted to any show or ride, or the circus, at a reduced fee.

From Monday night on thru the entire week Pollie and Berger will operate from morning until midnight—practically a continuous performance.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

United States soldiers. Scott's Cave, a large rock cavern near the shore at the west end of the island. Chimney Rock, which resembles an enormous chimney. Devil's Kitchen, where, strange to say, His Satanic Majesty is never "at home." Wishing Spring where, after partaking of its cool, sparkling waters, one's wishes may come true.

One is well repaid for the time spent in a visit to the John Jacob Astor House, which was erected in 1809, by the American Fur Company. It was here that the foundation of the present Astor fortune was laid. Its low ceilings, its heavy timber braces, ancient fireplaces, and cumbersome iron door locks, together with the old storage vaults in which still repose the Fur Company's account and record books with their quaint entries, will recall the days of long ago when Mackinac Island was the seat of government for the entire Northwest Territory.

The main street of the town is lined with stores of every description. Complete lines of groceries, provisions, dry goods and furnishings are carried, and the cottager, camper and transient will find his wants fully supplied at reasonable prices. A tour of the curio and auction stores, where may be secured curio and art treasures from all parts of the world, is also an attractive feature.

On the Island there are a number of hotels. Among them is Grand Hotel. This structure too has added to the attractiveness of the island, and is the largest summer hotel in the world. Here the newspaper folk made their headquarters, guests of W. S. Woodfill, president of the hotel organization, who was on hand to greet them and to see that everyone was well cared for and comfortable.

Arriving by boat from Mackinaw City, Cheboygan, and St. Ignace the guests were conveyed from the boat piers to the hotel by horse driven vehicles. And here amidst a veritable fairyland they proceeded to enjoy themselves. To view the beauty of the place and scenery about was reward enough for all who had journeyed to get there. The grandeur of the setting about Grand Hotel was almost overwhelming. It would require more space than this newspaper affords to justly describe it.

The history of Grand Hotel is very interesting and our next issue will contain a resume that we are sure our subscribers will enjoy reading. Don't fail to read it.

WHITE PINE IS ONE OF FEW VIRGIN STANDS IN PENINSULA

Hartwick Pines state park, which contains the largest remaining stand of virgin white pine in the lower peninsula, will be formally dedicated in honor of the late Major Edward E. Hartwick, at a public ceremony to be held in the park Friday afternoon, July 19 in connection with the Grayling homecoming week.

A bronze memorial tablet presented by the department of conservation will be placed in the park memorial building in honor of Major Hartwick, veteran of two wars who died while in France.

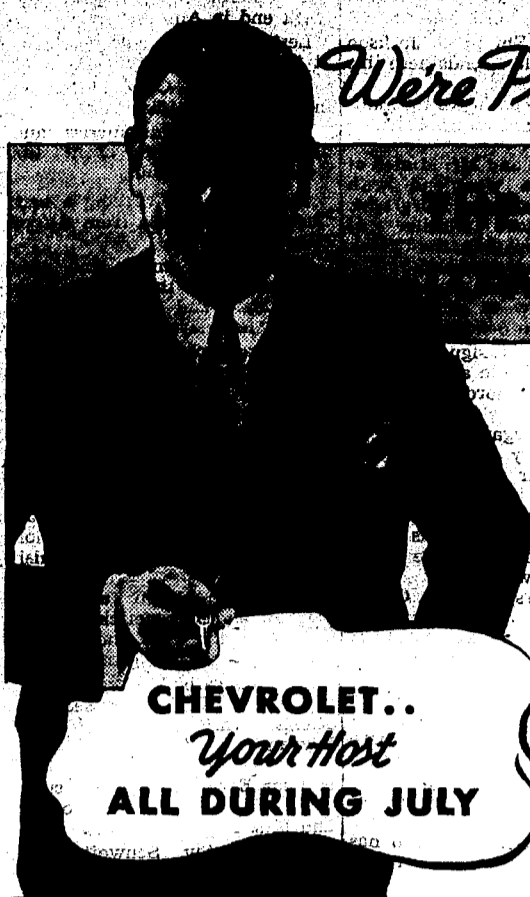

The dedication speech will be given by Ex-governor Fred W. Green, a personal friend of Major Hartwick. Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald will also take part in the program. Mr. Green was governor at the time the park area, with its stand of white pine, was presented to the state by Karen Hartwick, widow of Major Hartwick.

The ceremony will be held during the Grayling celebration and a battalion of Michigan National Guard, encamped near Grayling, will participate. The park is located off M-93 and about 11 miles north and east of Grayling. It is now under development by CCC men, who have constructed a group of attractive buildings, one of which will serve as a lumberman's memorial.

Major Hartwick, a former resident of Grayling, served during the Spanish-American war and the World war. He had been in the lumbering industry near Grayling—Bay City Daily Times.

Air Survey At
Grayling Airport

GREEN BAY AIRWAY CHART TO BE CHECKED FROM THE AIR

A Department of Commerce plane has arrived at Grayling airport, where it will be used in flight-checking the Green Bay air navigation chart being prepared for publication by the Coast and Geodetic Survey. The flight-check survey, which is under the joint direction of the Coast Survey and the Bureau of Air Commerce, is being performed by Edwin H. White, observer, of Baltimore, Md.; J. Hail McKenney, pilot; S. E. McGlathery, map draftsman; and Fred Sheffield, mechanic, of Washington, D. C.

Safety in flying demands accurate charts. A pilot must be able to determine his position definitely at any time, visibility permitting, by comparing his chart with the ground beneath him. Thus the correct relative position of roads, railroads, and other details of the terrain is of vital importance on the airway chart.

In addition to the features making up an accurate chart, this new chart will show, in a red overprint, information of special interest to aviators, such as airports, Department of Commerce beacon lights, the radio range system which marks out the sky routes regardless of weather, and magnetic variation.

The projection for the airway chart (that is, the network of meridians and parallels), has its own interesting story. Known as the Lambert conformal conic projection, it was adopted for the battle maps of the Allied Forces during the World War to meet the need for maps with a maximum accuracy of distance and direction. Today, the high speed of the airplane demands the same properties, and, for this reason, the Lambert projection was introduced into the field of air navigation by the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The flight check observers are furnished with photographic copies of the original drawing of the Green Bay airway chart, which have been marked off in strips, or zones, 10 miles in width. The plane is then flown through the middle of each strip, maintaining an accurate course and speed while the observer, assisted by the pilot, checks the details of the chart as seen from the air, making corrections and noting prominent landmarks.

Because of its accurate and detailed information, this new chart will be in demand for general purposes, but it is intended primarily for use in air navigation and will meet an urgent need in that field.

The Green Bay airway chart extends from West Branch on the east to Wausau, Wis., and from Marquette, Mich., on the north to Ludington, Mich. It is one of a series of 87 maps covering the United States, which is
